Consent, Boundaries & Body Safety

We often worry about keeping our children safe - whether from scrapes, bruises or hurt feelings. What about protection from unsafe relationships and abuse? Body safety education empowers children with preventative skills, teaching them to seek help or self-advocate if they feel unsafe. We will explore how adults can model safe relationships, pass along healthy body messages, and teach bodily autonomy. Through this, we can create an environment where consent and respect for boundaries is practiced and understood.
